LEARNING FROM MISTAKES – AN ESSENTIAL INGREDIENT OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

Presenters: Peter B. Bloom, M.D. and Julie H. Linden, Ph.D.

Every therapist makes mistakes in establishing a working therapeutic alliance, making the diagnosis, and managing the therapy. From time to time, these mistakes provide the opportunity for important learning by both the therapist and the patient. Drs. Julie Linden and Peter Bloom will review a few of their mistakes and what they learned, and then invite the participants to share their own. Please be advised that recording of any kind will not be permitted at this meeting. Attendance at this meeting is limited to members of GPSCH/ASCH/SCEH only, and guests will not be accommodated in order to assure confidentiality and safety in sharing.

Learning Objectives: At the completion of this course

1. Participants will recognize that mistakes in therapy are inevitable and can be the basis of learning for both the patient and the therapist.
2. Participants will recognize some common mistakes in establishing a working relationship with their patients/clients, in making an accurate diagnosis, and in managing therapy.
3. Participants will become more comfortable discussing these mistakes with colleagues and their patient clients.

Julie H. Linden, PhD is a psychologist in full time private practice in Philadelphia, PA and is currently Secretary/Treasurer of the International Society of Hypnosis. Dr. Linden specializes in pediatrics, treatment of traumas, and the feminist practice of psychological hypnosis. She is a Fellow, Approved Consultant and Past President of ASCH. She served for three years as President of the Greater Philadelphia Society of Clinical Hypnosis. In 2003 and again in 2007, she received the Josephine Hilgard Award from the American Journal of Clinical Hypnosis for Scientific Excellence in Writing on Pediatric/Adolescent Uses of Hypnosis. Dr. Linden has taught and presented for ASCH, SCEH, ESH and ISH as well as conducted training on hypnosis in the Balkans, South Africa, Australia and Finland.

Peter B. Bloom, M.D. is Past President of the International Society of Hypnosis (ISH); Past President of the American Board of Medical Hypnosis; Psychiatrist to the Hospital, Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia; and Clinical Professor of Psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. He has been awarded the ISH 2001 Pierre Janet Award for Clinical Excellence, and at the 16th International Congress, October 2004 in Singapore, he received the ISH Benjamin Franklin Gold Medal for being a distinguished leader, creative clinician, and respected teacher. He divides his time teaching students at the medical school and residents in psychiatry at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, and treating patients in his private practice in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.
